Ability to show high speed despite the adverse road conditions was a big factor in McDougal's success.

Immediately the start was effected the ten limit men entered into a struggle for the role of pacemaker. McDougal was the only one to gain his objective, and he succeeded because he rad better control of his feet than the others. This knack enabled him to retain the lead throughout in spite of the fact that he was challenged repeatedly for the honor. Of the four scretch men who tried for have without representation, but Harry Frazee of the Boston Red Sox looked after the interests of Cols. Huston and Ruppert.

"We have decided upon an open door meeting to-morrow," said Harry Frazee to-night. "President Johnson has been invited to attend. Every American League club owner has also been notified of the meeting. It is up to them to come in and get together. We are not hostile. We are against a baseball war. We will move heaven and earth if it is possible to avoid one, but if it's in the air, just say for me that we are ready for it. Our plans are all laid to recoganize baseball," concluded Mr. Fracey. "The entire National League and the three big American League clubs are all in favor of reorganizing baseball along business lines," said Barney Dreyfuss of the Pittsburg Pirates to-night. "We stand just where we did when we met for the first time to discuss the Lasker

"We have made several overtures to President Johnson of the American League to cooperate with us. Instead of everybody getting together President Johnson and his five loyalists frame up an agreement of their own."

"We shall be more than pleased to see Mr. Johnson and his supporters at the big meeting to-morrow," said W. H. Baker of the Philadelphia National League team to-night, "of course if they prefer to remain outside that is their privilege."

"I must decline at this time to make any comment on what transpired at the meeting of the Lasker plan boosters." It is all President Ban Johnson to-night, when asked for a statement. when the Lasker adherents held their first session.

Rumor has it that President Johnson will ignore the invitation of President John Heydler of the National League, inviting Ban and His loyal five to meet in a joint session to-morrow to iron out the wrinkles on the two plans advocated by the leagues for a reorganization of baseball. President Johnson has gone on record with the statement that it will be sufficient for each major body to select a committee of three men to gather with a like committee from the minors and perfect plans which will safeguard the national game in the future.

The meeting of the American League club owners to-morrow in the offices of President Johnson will immediately follow the session of the directors.

They appear to hold the balance of power, as both the Lasker adherents and the pro-Johnson faction of the American League claim the support of the little fellows is essential to the success of any revision.

Representatives of a score or more of minor league baseball clubs left to-night for Kansas City to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues there Tuesday.

Among those in the party were Jack Rendricks and W. J. Smith of Indianapolis; John H. Farrell, secretary of the association; Cal Ewing of Oakland; E. W. Dickerson, president of the Central League; George Malmes, president of the Michigan-Ontario League; David L. Fultz, president of the new International League; T. J. Hickey, president of the American Association, and A. R. Tearney, president of the Western Three I League.

Aided by the limit handlcap of 3 min-utes 45 seconds, W. McDougal of the St. Christopher A. C. won first prize in the Harlem and Heights Athletic the Harlem and Heights Athletic League's four and a half mile road race, decided over slippery asphalt streets in West Harlem and Washington Heights yeaterday. Rain fell during the running of the event, making the footing uncertain. The chances of several of the thirty harriers were spoiled by fails caused by the wet pavement. Five runners proved unequal to the task of running at racing speed in the going and they retired after racing a mile.

his long sought chance. But he must get the support of his owners.

Every big boxing match usually has six stages—the talking, the signing, the second talking as to the scene of the conflict, the training, the fight itself and the inevitable aftermath. The Dempsey-Carpentier affair now is in its third stage. Where will the bout be staged? Not so many days ago we were regaled with stories of a bout in Havana—of a Cuban syndicate and so forth and so on. Now all pretence of Cuba seems to have been aban-The promoters are anxious to hold the fight in this city, but they are shakler than ever as to the attitude of the Boxing Commission. The commission itself is reported to be rather shaky. There is a disposition to put on the soft pedal until the situation clears and the new Republican Administration indicates just how it wants boxing handled.

According to the report which has come to us Gov.-elect Miller will place no restrictions on the commission and will give it an absolutely free hand. If this attitude is maintained we may look for an early announcement that the heavyweight title bout will be staged in this city. If there is opposition it will be moved over to New Jersey. But it will be staged within the miles of our City Hull.

Personating a boxer will become a difficult and dangerous operation as soon as the New York State Boxing Commission gets its identification scheme in good working order. Under this plan every boxer who has a license card to box in this State must have a photostraph of himself pasted on his identification card and a duplicate of the pleture must be filed with the commission. Chairman Laurence McGuire, of the License Committee, has just sent out to all boxers this communication:
